

Atlantic and Bohemia retain Michelin stars

THE ATLANTIC Hotel in St Brelade and the Bohemia Bar & Restaurant in St Helier have both been awarded a Michelin star for the fifth consecutive year in the Michelin Guide Great Britain and Ireland 2011, which this year celebrates its 100th anniversary.

The Atlantic's Owner and Managing Director Patrick Burke praised Head Chef Mark Jordan (pictured) and his brigade at Ocean Restaurant. He said: "Using the best of Jersey produce, Mark and his team are passionate about what they do and take pride in every single dish that leaves their kitchen."

Bohemia's Head Chef Shaun Rankin commented: "This is fantastic news for Bohemia and the whole kitchen brigade is understandably delighted. Accolades such as these continue to boost morale for the team year on year, while inspiring us to work even harder to build recognition for Bohemia outside the Channel Islands."

Channel Islands' regulators to join forces

UTILITY and competition consumer regulators in Guernsey and Jersey are to work more closely to protect both islands' consumers. Guernsey's Office of Utility Regulation and the Jersey Competition Regulatory Authority have agreed they will share more information and work on joint projects.

Staff from the two offices will also work on pan-island initiatives, the organisations said. The Office of Utility Regulation was set up to regulate the post, telecommunications and electricity industries, while Jersey's Competition Regulatory Authority aims to enforce local competition laws and regulate the telecommunications and postal sectors.

G4S acquires Guernsey Air Conditioning

G4S Secure Solutions (Guernsey) Limited, Guernsey's largest secure solutions company, has acquired Guernsey Air Conditioning Limited, one of the largest building services contractors in the Channel Islands. The acquisition will extend G4S's significant facilities management (FM) capability across the Channel Islands by allowing it to offer a range of 'hard' FM services to government and commercial customers for the first time. The acquisition is also seen as securing a positive future for the current staff of Guernsey Air Conditioning.

Guernsey Air Conditioning was established in April 1990 and currently employs 55 staff across a range of FM disciplines. The company will continue to trade under its existing name.

Major Guernsey fund launch

A NEW Guernsey entity was the second-largest investment fund launched on the London Stock Exchange in 2010. John Laing Infrastructure Fund Limited – advised by Mourant Ozannes and administered by Heritage International Fund Managers – was admitted to the official list of the Financial Services Authority and to trading on the LSE's main market for listed securities on 29 November 2010.

The fund, which raised £270 million, was second only to Anthony Bolton's Fidelity Special Situations China Fund, and is the largest Guernsey LSE public offering of 2010. What's more, the fund was oversubscribed and had to scale back its offering.
